In the Netherlands.

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 26.—The cholera still prevails in the Netherlands, but not to an extent to justify alarm that the pestilence will get beyond the control of the authorities. The statistics in regard to the progress of the disease show only a comparatively small number of fresh cases and deaths. In Rotterdam only one fresh case was reported Sunday.

Cholera Notes.

LIGHTED HIS PIPE.

Dan! Derrick, Drill and All Vents

ANDERSON, Sept. 26.—A peculiar explosion of natural gas occurred here Monday morning. Some workmen were drilling a well south of town and expected to strike gas some time soon.

Suddenly the rope that held the drill broke and the drill fell. One of the men, who went to light his pipe, threw the burning match into the hole and immediately there followed a terrific explosion, bringing up drill, derrick and all.

The explosion scattered the fragments for some distance around. One very remarkable feature is the fact that no one was seriously injured. The workmen were burned about the face.

Two Trains Come Together Near Shreve, Ohio.

As the Result of the Crew of a Freight Not Obeying Orders—Fire Breaks Out, Consuming the Wrecked Passenger Cars and Several of the Bodies of the Dead Nine People Injured.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—About 3 o'clock Wednesday morning trains No. 8 and No. 73, (first section) on the Pennsylvania road, collided near Shreve, O., ditching both engines. One postal car, two express cars, one baggage car, one coach were destroyed by fire and five freight cars were broken up. No. 8 was one hour and a half late, and first and second sections of No. 73 were one hour and a half late.

Since that time the woman has taken medicine, and she has so much improved that she now does her household work and is fast recovering. ### JAMES RETIRES.

For The Sake Of Harmony He Gracefully Surrenders The Nomination.

"I AM A DEMOCRAT."

Hon. T. C. Allen, Chairman, and the members of the Democratic Committee of the Fourth Judicial District:

Gentlemen: At the Democratic Convention of the Fourth Judicial District assembled at Princeton, on the 16th, inst., I was, I think, regularly nominated for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney of said district. Since then I have heard from rumor that much dissatisfaction has arisen in Hopkins county, growing out of the defeat of her favorite son, Hon. Clem Gordon. I was not in the Convention until after I was notified of my nomination, and was not aware of the dissention or frictional division growing out of my nomination until after my acceptance and the adjournment of the convention. I have been informed that many silly and unfounded reports have been in circulation in portions of the District, evidently intended to discredit my standing as an honorable and fair-minded man, and with the view to stab me in the house hold of the Democratic party.

When I entered the canvass for this office I was prompted by a laudable ambition to serve the people of the District in the high and responsible position to which the duties of the office would call me. I realized the fact that in the due administration of the law rested the security of civil government and the safety and liberty of the citizens, as well as the peace and quietude of society. I believed from my long experience as an attorney, and especially as a criminal lawyer, for twenty-three years, that I possessed the necessary qualifications to fill this office with credit to myself and party. With this feeling I entered the canvass with the determination to win the race upon my merits, standing aloof at all times from any alluring combinations or concessions.

I believed then as I believe now that the people should be left free to express their preference in the selection of their standard-bearers. I pursued this course to the end. I was not consulted nor invited to any council or caucus held by any other candidate seeking the honor of a nomination at the hands of the convention. I made no improper overtures to any delegate or candidate, nor do I believe that any of my friends did. The charge made that I obtained any vote in the convention by bribery or unfair means is false in substance and fact, nor do I believe that any of my friends are guilty of such an act.

Much has been said in regard to the vote of Mr. S. C. Johnson of the Dreskell precinct in Livingston county. My information is that Mr.
Johnson is a high minded, honorable gentleman, and if he is correctly quoted as to the reasons why he cast his vote for me in the convention, there can be no question but that it was cast in accordance with the wish and expressed will of the majority of the people of his precinct.

Notwithstanding I feel I have won the nomination fairly and honorably, yet I am a Democrat and an unwilling to stand in the way of harmony in the party, and for that reason I now tender to the Committee my resignation of the nomination and most earnestly request the Committee to take such action as they may deem advisable to bring about harmony and unity of action in the party and such as will promote the success of the party.

Assuring your honorable committee that whatever may be your action I will acquiesce therein, and pledge myself to the hearty support of whoever you may give the nomination.

Permit me to say to my friends who have stood arm to arm with me, that words are inadequate to express that love and appreciation in which I hold them.

I have the honor to remain most respectfully,

L. H. JAMES.
Marion, Ky., Sept. 28, 1892.
CLEVELAND'S LETTER.

Tuesday Cleveland's letter accepting the Democratic nomination was published. He reviews briefly the issues of the campaign, clearly and concisely stating the Democratic position with a frankness that harbors no subterfuge. The main issue is of course the tariff, followed closely, in point of importance, by the force bill. Our space does not permit publication of the letter in full, and we give an idea on the main features as expressed by the great leader.

PROTECTION OF THE PEOPLE.

The protection of the people in the exclusive use and enjoyment of their property and earnings, concededly constituted the especial purpose and mission of our free government.
This design is so interwoven with the structure of our plan of rule that failure to protect the citizen in such use and enjoyment, or their unjustifiable diminution by a government itself, is a betrayal of the people's trust. We have, however, understood to build a great nation upon a plain especially our own. To maintain it and to furnish through its agency the means for the accomplishment of national objects, the American people are willing though Federal taxation to surrender a part of their earnings and income. Tariff legislation presents a familiar form of Federal taxation. Such legislation results as surely in a tax upon the daily life of our people as the tribute paid directly into the hand of the taxgatherer. We feel the burden of these tariff taxes too palpably to be persuaded by any sophis-try that they do not exist or are paid by foreigners. Such taxes, representing a diminution of the property rights of the people, are only justifi-cable when laid and collected for the purpose of maintaining our Government and furnishing the means for the accomplishment of its legitimate purposes and functions. This is taxation under the operation of a tariff for revenue. It accords with the professions of American free institutions, and its justice and honesty answer the test supplied by a correct appreciation of the principles upon which these institutions rest.

ECONOMY IN GOVERNMENT.

This theory of tariff legislation manifestly enjoins strict economy in public expenditures and their limitation to legitimate public uses, in as much as it exhibits as absolute extortion any exaction, by way of taxation, from the substance of the people beyond the necessities of a careful and proper administration of government. Opposed to this theory the dogma is now boldly presented that tariff taxation is justifiable for the express purpose and intent of thereby promoting special interests is so clearly contrary to the spirit of our constitution and so directly encourages the disturbance by selfishness and greed of patriotic sentiment, that its statement would rudely shock our people if they had not already been insiduously allured from the safe landmarks of principle.
Never has honest desire for national growth, patriotic devotion to country and sincere regard for those who toil to support the support of a pernicious doctrine. In its behalf the plea that our infant industries should be fostered did service until discredited by our stalwart growth; then followed the exigencies of a terrible war, which made our people heedless of the opportunities for ulterior schemes afforded by their willing and patriotic payment of unprecedented tribute; and now after a long period of peace when our overburdened countrymen ask for relief and a restoration to a fuller enjoyment of their incomes and earnings, they are met by the claim that tariff taxation for the sake of protection is an American system, the continuance of which is necessary in order that high wages may be paid to workmen and a home market be provided for our farm products.

A SYSTEM CONTRARY TO JUSTICE.

These pretenses should no longer deceive. The truth is that such a system is directly antagonized by every sentiment of justice and fairness of which Americans are pre-eminently proud. It is also true that while our workmen and farmers can, the least of all our people, defend themselves against the harder home life which such tariff taxation deceives, the workman, suffering from the importation and employment of pauper labor instigated by his professed friends, and seeking security for his interests in organized co-operation, still waits for a division of the advantages secured to his employer under cover of a generous solicitude for his wages, while the farmer is learning that the prices of his products are fixed in foreign markets, where he suffers from a competition invited and built up by the system he is asked to support.

The struggle for unearned advantage at the doors of the Government tramples on the rights of those who patiently rely upon assurances of American equality. Every governmental concession to clamorous favorites invites corruption in political affairs by encouraging the expenditure of money to debauch suffrage in support of a policy directly favorable to private and selfish gain. This in the end must strangle patriotism and weaken popular confidence in the rectitude of republican institutions.

A QUESTION OF EQUITY.

Though the subject of tariff legislation involves a question of markets, it also involves a question of morals. We cannot with impunity permit injustice to taint the spirit of right and equity, which is the life of our Republic; and we shall fail to reach our national destiny if greed and selfishness lead the way. Recognizing these truths, the National Democracy will seek by the application of just and sound principles to equalize to our people the blessings due them from the Government they support; to promote among our countrymen a closer community of interests cemented by patriotism and national pride, and to point out a fair field where prosperous and dividual American enterprise may grow and thrive in the wholesome atmosphere of American industry, ingenuity and intelligence.

THE FORCE BILL.

The administration and management of our Government depend upon popular will. Federal power is the instrument of that will, not its master. Therefore the attempt of the opponents of Democracy to interfere with and control the suffrage of the States through Federal agencies develops a design which no explanation can mitigate, to reverse the fundamental and safe relations between the people and their Government.

ROUND AND HONEST MONEY.

The people are entitled to sound and honest money, abundantly sufficient in volume to supply their business needs. But whatever may be the form of the people's currency, National or State—whether gold, silver or paper—it should be so regulated and guarded by government action, or by wise and careful law, that no one can be deluded as to the certainty and stability of its value. Every dollar put into the hands of the people should be of the same intrinsic value of purchasing power. With this condition absolutely guaranteed, both gold and silver can be safely utilized, upon equal terms in the adjustment of our currency.

PENSIONS.

The American people are generous and grateful, and they have expressed these characteristics upon their Government. Therefore all patriotic and just decisions must commend liberal consideration for our worthy veteran soldiers and for the families of those who have died.

Now if Hopkins county was a Democrat before the Princeton Convention, let her be a Democrat still.

Senator Hill is painting the political skies a Democratic hue in New York.

Now let us have peace and plenty of it while the breech is closing.

Salem.
MR. EDITOR:—With your permission I will try to bring our little village again to the front.

Our school, under the leadership of Prof. Evans, assisted by Miss Sallie McCreaney, is progressing nicely.
The school is not crowded but has enough to make interesting. There are several day scholars in attendance but we would like to have more; tuition and board is very cheap, and we don't think our school is surpassed by any in this end of the State.
Our school will observe Columbus day; hope to have a good attendance.

Our Sunday school, after a three months lay off, is trying again, under the guidance of Bros. Crichlow and Hall, to be a thing of the present; but remember they should not be expected to do it all. If the parents want their children benefited by a Sunday school they should attend and take their children with them. Let's all of us try it awhile; don't send your children but bring them.

Bro. Lowry passed through here Saturday en route to New Salem, and thence to Princeton. He reports a good meeting at Bayou Creek church.

Our young friend, Fred LaRue, left Saturday for Louisville, where he will attend the medical lectures this winter. Our young friends, Will Padon and John Lowery, are also attending the same school.

W. A. Haydon and wife, Robt. Boyd and children, and Geo. Mitchell and his best girl, attended church at New Salem Sunday.

We now have six general stores and groceries: Three drug stores, one hardware store, one saloon, two blacksmith shops, one first class saddle and harness shop, one hotel and one barber shop. We also have three firms speculating in live stock, who cut the "shavings" so fine that the farmer finds a better market in Salem than he would in Louisville or Cincinnati.

If you want to buy a first class piano or organ call on Robt. Boyd agent for D. H. Baldwin & Co.

We are to have two millinery stores this fall, to be opened in a few days.

If you want school books and school supplies generally, of the best quality, go to the postoffice for them.

If you want any rock walks made, call on Joe Hall; he is a tip top hand at the business. For a sample of work take a stroll up Church street.

Tom Evans and wife attended the Paducah fair last week.

J. H. Rutter and others, of Hampton, passed through here last Sunday en route to Evansville.

Mrs. Sherrill, of Texas, is spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Ock Haydon. She is delighted with her Texas home.

Harley Mc and Ben Parker have each moved to their new homes.

Mrs. Crichlow has lately purchased a very handsome Estey organ.

Miss Mary Robinson and little brother, of Birdsville, visited relatives and friends here last week.

Equire Stevens held his regular court here last Monday. Had some interesting cases. Among the legal lights present were N. H. Bigam, Clem Nunn and Ike Linley.

J. A. Harris left Monday for Evansville; he expects to be gone several days.

Our lively old friend, Uncle Billy Hayden, is the greatest sportsman in town; when you see him girth on his Texas saddle, mount his black pony, throw his breech loading shotgun across his lap, and give a few yelps for his squirrel dog, you may know that that means meat at his house for the next week.

There is some talk of Frank Wyatt buying a residence and moving to town.

The postmaster here has two requests to make of the patrons of his office; 1st, don't ask for stamps on a credit; 2nd, when you want your mail come in and get it. Don't stop out in the street and expect to be waited on. Some persons will ride up to the door and have their mail carried out to them; they will then ride on, hitch their horse and come back to the office to read it. Others will stay in town all day, then get on their horses, ride up to the door and expect the postmaster to carry their mail out to them.

The political sea is somewhat agitated just now in this part of the country over the way things went off at the Princeton convention. It is claimed by many of Mr. Gordon's friends and acceded to by many of his opponents that he was done up.
We regret that one of our countrymen should be the cause of so much dissatisfaction, by betraying the trust confided to his keeping. Let's have fair play.
Sam Slick.

About Cholera.

EDITOR PRESS:—In your local last week appeared the following good advice to your readers, which, in my humble opinion, is very applicable to certain portions of Marion: "Clean up your premises," "Burn the trash about your premises." The coming of cholera to our country—to our very doors, you may say, has caused a wide-spread uneasiness. This is intensified by the startling head lines and sensational reports of the newspapers. The way in which they describe events increase the general feelings of uneasiness. True, there is no cause for a panic. What is needed are wise and efficient sanitary precautions, and personal attention to all those things which make for health.
In the summer, during the heated term, many children died from cholera infantum; and yet there was no alarm. A few cases of this disease should not cause a fright. One or two simple rules are timely.
Keep clean, be temperate in eating and drinking, exercise in the open air, keep a calm, self-possessed mind, a cheerful spirit, and a trustful faith.
There is less danger of a panic, because the world has made a great advance in rational ideas, as will be seen by the following from the independent of a few weeks ago:
"In some of the churches in Hamburg on Sunday last, prayers were offered to God that He would stay the progress of the scourge; but such prayers are almost an insult to the Almighty in the face of the scourge which was only possible because of the wicked negligence of man himself.
It is in vain to expect Him to interfere to prevent the consequences of our own wicked indifference. We may not openly defy His laws, and then expect Him to interpose by miracle to save us from the results of our own folly. The man who deliberately takes poison is guilty of the crime of suicide. The man who deliberately administers poison to his neighbor is guilty of the crime of murder. The sin of him who allows a nuisance to poison the fount of his life, or refuses to abate a nuisance which affects a whole community, is a sin which is the same in kind, if not in degree, as suicide and murder."

Fredonia.

Miss Carrie Patterson, of Dawson, is visiting Sam Howerton's family.

H. C. Rice, was in Mobile, Ala., last week selling flour, he sold 8 car loads and got orders for nine hundred barrels more.

Ed Rice has heard nothing from his buggy.

Sam Howerton has the best assortment of goods to be found in Caldwell county.

Miss Olemmie Doom was visiting in town two or three days last week.

The Methodists are wanting to raise money to build a church in Kolsey.

Fleet Bice is building a residence in Fredonia.

W. J. Ray of Kuttawa, was in town last week, and his visits indicate earnestness.

Rev. Jasper Wells preached an excellent sermon at the C. P. church last Sunday and also Sunday night.

J. R. Jackson and family of Crittenden attended church here last Sunday.

Lawrence Wilson was in town Sunday evening.

Howerton's sales are immense and his prices lower than any others, for the same class of goods.

The school teacher has made no permanent arrangements yet, for a dwelling, he and his daughter will board until he secures a house.

A wedding in town may be expected in the near future.

Some of the farmers are talking of starting a fruit canning establishment.

There will be several car loads of good coal wanted here this winter, and some one should make arrangements at once to supply the amount needed of a quality that can be burned without using more than the worth of the coal in kindling as has been the case for several winters past. Coal is sent here that cannot be sold elsewhere. We demand a change.

Princeton Presbytery is in session this week at Piney Fork camp ground.

CANDIDATES NAMED.

The Third Party in the Field for Official Honors.

Pursuant to the previous arrangement the Third party folks held a meeting in Marion Monday to nominate candidates for the two county offices to be filled at the November election. The meeting was held in the court house with closed doors, consequently the Press is unable to give a detailed report of the meeting.
The following nominations are here announced:

For Circuit Court Clerk—Thos.
H. R. Berts, of Piney precinct.

For Sheriff—W. B. Rankin, of Ford's Ferry.

Mr. Roberts is an old teacher, a good straight man. Mr. Rankin is a Justice of the Peace in his district and is a clever nice gentleman.

Of course there is no show for the election of either of these gentlemen, if they accept the nomination. About the only question is which of the two old parties will be injured by those candidates? They will command from 100 to 200 votes, and their strength is drawn about equally from the old parties.

Strayed or Stolen.

From my old Piney farm, this county, three head of steers, one red steer about 650 to 700 pounds weight, in good order; also two larger and

Burns Burned.

Friday evening a large tobacco barn belonging to Mr. A. Buckslow, near Harold, was destroyed by fire. His entire crop of tobacco, some $300 or $400 worth, was burned. On the same evening a barn belonging to Henry Shadowen, in the same neighborhood, was burned. It too was filled with tobacco.

The real estate deal between W. J. Howerton and H. T. Flansy will probably end in a big law suit. Howerton still holds the farm, and will not give it up without a suit. He will plead that his mind was too clouded to make an intelligent trade, that being in that condition he sold the property for $3500 less than it was worth. He occasionally drinks deeply and this, he says, impairs his mental faculties for the time being, and that he was in this condition at the time the trade was consummated.

John M. Brawner Dead.

Monday, Sept 26, 1892, at 9 o'clock a. m., Mr. John M. Brawner died at the residence of his son, Mr. J. E. Brawner, of this place, after several weeks illness. Monday night, the remains, accompanied by the wife and son, were taken to Louisville for burial. The immediate cause of his death was lung disease. He was born in Meade county seventy-six years ago, his 76th birthday occurring the day before his death. The major part of his life was spent in the county of his birth and in the city of Louisville. He first came to Marion a few years ago, when his son Mr. J. E. Brawner took charge of the railroad office at this place. He was a man of sterling qualities; a devout christian. His life was useful as well as long.

His Black Eye.

Deputy Sheriff Loyd has been sporting a beautiful black eye for the past day or two. The handsome tint that surrounds his orbit of vision was not made with the artist's brush, either. He ran against the end of an ax handle which was in the hands of another party. Thursday he was detailed to take charge of some personal property which by agreement between T. C. Williams and wife, was to go to the former; the property was in possession of Mrs. Williams and when the officer called she gave him to understand that he could not get it; he expostulated, but to no purpose and when he proceeded to lay hands upon the goods, the woman got an ax, with which she broke a lamp, and proceeded to demolish a bedstead, when Loyd undertook to get the ax, he came in contact with the handle; she says accidentally, and the black tinge appeared.

Announcement.

Just as we go to press we are authorized to announce A. C. Moore a candidate for Commonwealth Attorney of the Fourth Judicial District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the people at the November, 1892, election.

A few days ago Mr. J. R. Jackson sent in his resignation as a Justice of the Peace in Dycusburg district to county judge Moore. The Judge asked Mr. J. L. Bugg to fill the vacancy, but he writes that he is going to leave the county about the last of the year. Consequently the vacant office is on the hunt of a deserving Democrat who lives in that section of the district. The Press takes the liberty of suggesting the name of H. D. Myers.

By calling early—we have just received another car load of the celebrated Mitchell wagons. We have all sizes. Pierce & Son.

Yesterday the petition of 100 voters, made necessary by the new election law to get a candidate's name on the official ticket, was made for Mr. A. C. Moore's name to be placed on the ticket for Commonwealth Attorney. This of course means that Mr. Moore is a candidate for that place. He is an excellent young man, a rising lawyer and will doubtless make a strong race. In politics he is a sterling Republican, being the chairman of the county committee. He deserves and unquestionably will receive the unanimous support of his party.

WANTED:—To exchange a hunting case filled watch for a good milk cow. Enquire at Press office.

In this paper is a card from Hon. L. H. James. It needs no explanation; no comment is necessary. Realizing that there is disaffection in his party, and feeling that his endorsement of the nomination to the party which gave it, would help to renounce the warring factions, he promptly, gracefully and fully sacrifices a laudible ambition upon the altar of his party. Nor does he propose to sulk in his tent, when the committee acts, no matter where the honor he relinquished is placed he will be found in the ranks, shoulder to shoulder with the nominee, helping the Democratic hosts on to success in November. Could more be asked? Could more be done?

LOST—Sept. 14, in Marion on road to my home a medium sized gold breast pin, with five small gold pendants. The original fastening had dropped out, and an ordinary pin was used for fastening. The finder will please return to me or leave at Press office.

Mrs. Caroline Noe.

You are earnestly requested to be present at the next meeting of the Piney Democratic Club, which meets Friday night, October 7, 1892. Business of importance demands our attention. Speakers from Marion will be on hands to dispense Democratic doctrine, so come out and less have a jolly time.

Cultivator and Seeder Combined.

The above cut shows the machine as a cultivator for corn, tobacco and other crops growing in rows. The fenders shown in the cut serve to protect the projecting leaves of the corn, tobacco, or whatever it may be, from injury. The driver comfortably seated regulates the sections with his feet, which rests in stirrups attached to each section. The sections are hung in such a manner as to permit of the freest oscillation. They may be readily moved from side by side pressure from the operators foot; levers are geared to each section by which they may be lowered or raised to cultivate deep or shallow, or locked securely in the desired position. To convert into a field harrow it is only necessary to remove the fenders and bolt on the center section. To convert into a seeder bolt on the seed box.

Three Machines in One,

And it is far superior to all other makes for the following reasons:

1ST—BECAUSE it's so much cheaper.

2ND—BECAUSE it's so much lighter draft.

3RD—BECAUSE it has such perfect center draft.

4TH—BECAUSE there is no weight on horse's neck.

5TH—BECAUSE of the regularity of the seed sower.

6TH—BECAUSE there is no jerking of the horse's neck.

7TH—BECAUSE it is an ABSOLUTE FORCE FEED broad cast seeder.

8TH—BECAUSE the teeth are made from the best quality of highly tempered steel.

9TH—BECAUSE it has two levers instead of one, which enables the operator to lift one section over an obstruction while the other cultivates.

10—BECAUSE it has a stout wood frame, well bolted, which is much better than a soft rod of iron, liable to get bent and out of shape.

PRICE of Harrow Complete, Cultivator Complete, two farming implements in one, 32.50

CRECULOUS MR. PECK

RIDICULOUS REPORT OF THE NEW YORK LABOR COMMISSIONER.

Protected Manufacturers Concoct Their Own Statistics and Peck Uses Them. Fallacious Reasoning, Illegitimate Conclusions and Grave Misconceptions.

What is this report of Labor Commissioner Charles F. Peck, of New York, which President Harrison is so much about which the Republicans are making as much fuss as if it were the only valuable piece of campaign material that they have got hold of this year?

First—Mr. Peck attempted to show the effect of the tariff on labor and wages, in order that voters might know whether a "protective tariff" or a "tariff for revenue only" is to be preferred.

Second—He evidently assumed and thought that increased production and earnings would show that the effects of the high protective tariff act of 1890 were beneficial to labor. This was a violent assumption on the part of Mr. Peck and is not creditable to him as a statistician, a logician or a Democrat.

There might be a dozen different causes for either high or low production and earnings, the most important of which might have no connection directly or indirectly with tariffs. For example, bonafide rains and favorable weather in 1891 produced good crops here when there was a scarcity abroad. This caused unusual returns for our crops and a boom in business in no way due to any tariff act.

The low price of cotton made cotton mills prosperous and made more hours (day and night) work for spinners, weavers, etc. Such causes as these may, and Mr. Peck sees nothing except the tariff in all this. He had a "preconceived theory," which makes the tariff responsible for prosperity or depression in business, and though he pretends to be a Democrat yet it is evident that he is a Republican in disguise.

Democrats do not claim, as his report assumes, that "protection" will entirely prevent increased production and earnings or that it will raise or lower individual wages. They simply claim that it has little or nothing to do with high or low wages, but that it does have much to do with the amount of goods that can be purchased with wages. But on this important point the subject of Mr. Peck is silent, except that he mentions the omission in a manner that would indicate that it is comparatively unimportant. That his "preconceived theory" was in favor of protection is obvious from the statement in the New York Tribune of Sept. 3, in which he says: "I see that protection is a good thing for the manufacturers, and I know also that the manufacturers would not pay higher prices for their labor if it were not for the tariff. By means of protection labor is able to enforce the demands that it makes upon the manufacturers." Of course there is but little connection, except in the minds of Mr. Peck and other protectionists, between a duty on manufactured goods and wages. This report that has "knocked the Chicago platform silly" and "raised the hopes of the Republicans 10 per cent" is then but the half-fledged and illogical conception of a protectionist. In the name of Democracy I seek to show that the protectionist claim that prosperity is impossible without "protection," whereas Democrats do not deny that in a country like this—the biggest free trade country in the world when territory is considered—considerable prosperity may accompany even McKinley protection.

Third—Notice how Mr. Peck went to work to obtain the data which was to settle forever this tariff discussion. "Some 8,000 blanks," he says, "were addressed and mailed to as many separate establishments throughout the state." A circular letter informed the manufacturers that "the information received would be used only in a general way, so that the business of any individual firm would not be recognized." This guaranteed against detection, 8,000 of these protected manufacturers and zealous Republicans did their duty to their country and themselves by filling up figures which show or leave no doubt as to the effects of McKinleyism and sent them to Mr. Peck, the gentleman who possesses a medal for his ability to display figures, and who deserves one for his methods of collecting them.

But what of the 8,000 who did not reply to Peck's circular, "How do you do, beneficiaries of McKinley?" Why did they not reply? Could they not make figures expressive of their gratitude to McKinley, or did they not have faith in Peck and believe that he would keep his promise to shield them from exposure by withholding all names from the public? It would be interesting to learn why they did not reply and what their replies would have been. But perhaps they would have spoiled the report for Republican purposes, in which case this campaign would have been tame and uninteresting.

Credulous Mr. Peck! He has the same implicit confidence in the unverified figures of these interested manufacturers that The American Economist had when it obtained, by the same methods, its list of twenty-eight McKinley wage advances. But unfortunately for it The Economist was not so credulous as that an investigation was possible. The Reform club at once got the facts in each case and proved that there had been far more wage reductions in these mills than advances, and that instead of supplying reliable information the manufacturers had treated The Economist to a collection of falsehoods.

Senator Aldrich is another over credulous protectionist statistician. When he wished to annihilate Hon. John De Witt Warner's list of "100 tariff trusts" he sent out blanks to protected manufacturers, asking them to state whether or not they were members of trusts. In consequence of the face of criminal statutes and public opinion, the manufacturers strenuously denied that they were in a trust—in many cases, where they were dodging from one state to another, under aliases, to escape prosecution, or where the courts had declared that they had a trust. But Aldrich paraded their denials in The Congressional Record and apparently believes these millionaire monopolists incapable of coloring facts. As the New York World put it: "In this glibly scheme Mr. Peck refused to make public the letters on which he bases his assertions."

Fourth—Mr. Peck's figures show a net and of wages of $8,377,925 in 1891 over 1890—$23.11 to each of the 385,000 employees, or $43.96 to each employee in the fifty-one trades showing increased wages—there being 89,717 instances of individual increases.

Fifth—Supposing that these statistics are correct, they show that from some cause or causes—perhaps good crops or it may be increased prices for manufactured goods—the value of manufactured products has increased $31,000,000, about one-fifth of which has gone to labor—probably for work done—and four-fifths of which rest snugly in the pockets of protected manufacturers. That Mr. Peck should jump to the conclusion that this increase in earnings meant increases of rates of wages and that those were due to a tariff law is unbecomingly to him as a statistician and inconsistent with his past records. In 1888, 1890 and 1891 he attributed wage increases to labor organizations, strikes and national prosperity.

These statistics also contradict those of the senate committee—obtained with considerable care—which show that wages have advanced somewhat in fifteen unprotected industries, but have fallen slightly in fifteen highly protected industries.

In many industries the statistics appear to be entirely inconsistent with previous and with contemporaneous statistics and to depend largely upon the elasticity of the consciousness of the makers. Thus the average yearly wages in the agricultural implements industry for 1890 is $654.30 in New York and $410.10 in Massachusetts—a difference greater than usually exists between wages in this and in European countries—and yet these two states have the same tariff law. In the second industry mentioned (arms and munition) the average yearly wages in 1890 were $501.45 in Massachusetts and $492.43 in New York. The third (artificial teeth) shows yearly wages of $554.45 in Massachusetts and $492 in New York—but notwithstanding this tremendous difference the high priced labor of Massachusetts competes with the pauper labor of New York. But by 1891 wages in this industry had increased to $554.45—that is from about sixty-five to eighty cents per day. Analysis of other industries shows the same glaring inconsistencies and demonstrates the entire worthlessness of such statistics, except for Republican campaign purposes.

But there are, as Mr. J. Schoenhof has shown, important and significant omissions in Peck's list of protective industries. Three of these are the highly protected industries of cotton goods, hats, caps, and iron and steel products. In these, both the number of employees and their annual earnings had declined heavily from 1870 to 1890. Here are the census tables (thousands):

1870 1890
Cotton goods, 2,230 2,111
Hats, caps, etc., 2,530 2,111
Iron and steel, 9,000 8,884

Total, 13,760 13,106
The average per hand employed is as follows:

1870 1890
Cotton goods, $2.57 $2.24
Hats, caps, etc., 1.48 1.23

The increase in the value of the products is no greater—in fact less—than the United States statistics would indicate.

If space would permit many other surface inconsistencies and incongruities could be pointed out, but the one thing most desired by critics is the names and locations of firms where wage increases have occurred. Let these be given, and the fallacy of the whole list will soon be exposed, for the alleged advances are contrary to the experience and knowledge of the employees. Mr. Peck invites the closest scrutiny of the figures in his office, but he declares he will permit no one to see the names attached. Hence it is probable that his tables will be quoted by Republicans till the November elections. They may give Republicans something to talk about and to buoy up their hopes, but as individual experiences are that it is more difficult to earn a living now than before 1890, this crude and garbled report of Mr. Peck is likely to prove a failure as a vote getter for the Republicans.

Suppose that pauper labor goods would not only come in free of duty, but free of cost; what a disaster would befall us! Every one who now produces these goods would have absolutely nothing to do. This certainly would be the extension of the free trade idea to its worst possible phase, and yet who among our protectionist friends would not be hanging around the wharf at distribution time? Were he asked why he did not reject the good things, his answer would be the free traders, "There is more fun in getting plenty with little or no work than in working hard to get few things." His concern for the shoe-maker and tailor would vanish as he saw him imitating his example. And then there would be time for him to study the reason why there ever was opposition to any approach to the millennium of industrial economy.—St. Louis Courier.

FOR SHERIFF,
We are authorized to announce JOHN T. FRANKS a candidate for Sheriff of Crittenden county, subject to the action of the Republican party. He will appreciate your vote and influence.

TO THE VOTERS OF CRITTENDEN COUNTY: I respectfully announce myself a candidate for the office of Circuit Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party. I have for twenty-four years stood with the rank and file of the party, and with them borne the heat and burden of the day, in doing so, I simply expressed my conviction of the policy of the two great parties of the country. While I am a democrat I have always cheerfully recognized the right of my neighbor to entertain and express different opinions. In this office its occupant can in no way make or influence the laws of State or Nation and I maintain it should be filled regardless of political prejudice and without pandering to partyism, the people should with reference to the position and standing of the man and ever with a zealous regard for his qualifications to discharge the duties of the office, select and elect a good man and not a partisan.

My business training has lead me for a number of years in a chance which taught and instructed me in the duties of this office, and without presumption or egotism I tell that I am qualified for the discharge of its duties, and can promise if elected to make a faithful and competent clerk. To my many friends of all parties I can agree with me in the sentiments I have here expressed. I ask your suffrage and if it should be my good fortune to be your choice you will ever have my heartfelt gratitude, and I assure you I shall recognize and appreciate my position if elected, as that of a public servant and from no official act of mine will any man know my politics.

Very Respectfully,
J. R. FINLEY.
